DEPARTMENT HEADS, ELECTED OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES

County Auditor Eric Van Lancker said a summary of budget amendments will be sent to the supervisors later today. He added the Health Benefits Committee is in the process of constructing an RFP for consultant services.

Chairperson Determann said he would encourage more people to take the Broadband Study. Van Lancker said the link can be found at the Broadband Study Clinton County Facebook page. Srp reminded residents they want to collect data and share with the providers so they are ready to go as money becomes available from the state to upgrade broadband across the County.

County Treasurer Dustin Johnson said they are deep into tax collections. He thanked the public for their patience with the parking lot project. He encouraged people to use the web portal to pay taxes. He said staffing has been increased to assist tax payers in DeWitt. He expects a large surge as the end of the month nears.

County Facilities Director Corey Johnson reported he met with the electrical engineer last week concerning the generator at the County Administration Building. He expects a report with options from them within two weeks. He did mention that with the replacement of the chiller that it appears the current generator may be able to power the entire building. He said the Administration Building will be cold in the morning for a couple weeks until a fan is repaired. He said a new air handler may need to be discussed down the road. He said ARP funds may be able to be spent on that since it affects building air flow. Johnson said the parking lot project at the Administration Building is proceeding well and is around three weeks to completion.

County Conservation Director Philip Visser reported they had a good Labor Day weekend and experienced minimal flooding affect and the water has receded.

County HR Director Dawn Aldridge said the policy software is still going through transition. She said there should be a procedure created to have department heads add policies for their specific departments. She said the wage study kick off meeting took place last week and she has just a couple more job descriptions to send to the firm for the study. She said the firm will meet with department heads and elected officials in early October.

County Engineer Todd Kinney said Old Highway 30 east of DeWitt is open today. He added the Charlotte shed construction will not start until the spring.

DISCUSSION WITH POSSIBLE ACTION

State Public Defenders Office in Clinton County update: Curt Swaim, First Assistant State Public Defender, spoke about the opportunity to place a state public defender in Clinton County to service Clinton, Jackson and Cedar counties. He said the state legislature provided funding for public defenders to serve rural areas. Van Lancker said a committee of County officials looked at various offices for the public defender before deciding that Seniors vs. Crime will move to the third floor and the public defender will move into that office on the first floor. Van Lancker said the committee suggested a rent from the state in an amount of $100/month to cover custodial and utilities. Jeff Wright, State Public Defender, said they hope to have someone in the position around October 1. County Attorney Mike Wolf asked what cases they will take. Swaim said as many adult criminal cases as they can. He said there is less need for juvenile right now, but they will adjust accordingly if it increases. He said his office will not take simple misdemeanors. He said this should save money for the County as they will be able to work more efficiently with someone assigned to Clinton County.

Communications Radio Project Update: County Communications Director Eric Dau reported he is talking with Motorola weekly. He said the fire departments are good without having the next generation radio for the whole department. It was decided each fire department would have one next generation radio. He said he's meeting with the budget director this afternoon to run some financial scenarios.

Solar Projects in the County Update: Fiona Bagwell & David Levy of Nextera Energy said they are looking at solar and wind power generation in Clinton County and have two projects in early stages of land acquisition. Bagwell said projects take several years to develop so they are at least three years away from construction. They are working on a solar project in southern Clinton County and a wind project in north eastern Clinton County. She said they will know better what production will be after studies are completed during the next three years. Keith and Jennifer Boysen, rural Clinton County property owners, said they have been approached for a solar project on their property. Their main concern is the decommissioning of the project. They would like to see a financial instrument in place from the start of operations for protection for the land owner. He said the company has a good reputation and the risk is minimal, but this would protect the land owner. Boysen would like the County to place in the ordinance that the decommissioning financial instrument be in place on the first day of the project. Supervisor Irwin said the companies need to provide a decommissioning plan and the County will be looking at that. The Boysens asked for more definitive language about the decommissioning in the County ordinance. Supervisor Srp said he doesn't want to put too restrictive language in the ordinance, but that would have to be researched. Levy said the bonds for decommissioning are typically not required until 10 to 15 years into the project as they are expensive. He added that power purchase agreements typically run for 20-25 years. Bagwell said it is not likely they will request a permit from the County within the next year. Srp said there are other projects that may be ahead of the Nextera project. Sam O'Keefe represented Ranger Power which is a developer of solar projects and based in Illinois. He said they are proposing a facility near Grand Mound and are nearing the permitting process and they support the changes in the County ordinance as they are currently presented. He expects public conversations on their project within the next few months. They will have an open house in Grand Mound October 5. O'Keefe said it should be a sizable economic impact for Clinton County between construction and property tax income. Levy said developers typically enter into a road use agreement with the County.

Elvira Wastewater Project Update: Judy Jansen, Elvira, said they found a leak in their water line that has been repaired and a floor drain has been addressed. County Sanitarian Shane McClintock said everything is installed and he will be walking through the project with the contractor. He said all of the project should be done by the end of the week.

ARP Fund Review: Van Lancker and Budget Director Nicholas Manrique explained the calculation for lost revenue is affected by the fact the County did not tax for mental health in fiscal year 2019. They said if they include that lack of tax collection it means a large amount of lost revenue can be identified. They said without it, there is much less lost revenue. They also updated the Board that they were notified last week that final rules have now been pushed back to the fall.

9:36 A.M. Public Hearing

Chairman Determann called a public hearing to order to solicit comments on a text amendment to the Zoning Ordinance Chapter III.

Proof of publications was presented, accepted and returned for filing.

Present were the Supervisors Irwin and Srp, County Auditor Eric Van Lancker, County Planning & Zoning Director Thomas Barnes, public and media.

Barnes said large scale permits currently go through the Board of Adjustment. He said the process needs to be updated to go through a proper zoning process which gives the Board of Supervisors the final decision to approve a project. Srp said the Board of Supervisors should be the final decision makers as elected officials as opposed to the volunteers on the Board of Adjustment and that's why he favors the change. Srp said he received one concern about permit approval being held up with the new language.

MOTION by Supervisor Srp to adjourn the public hearing.

Roll Call: Srp: Yes; Irwin: Yes; Determann: Yes.

Motion carried. The Public hearing was closed at 9:41 a.m.

A resolution approving the text amendment to the ordinance will be considered by the Board during its meeting next week.
