County Auditor Eric Van Lancker reported the Northeast Community School District Special Election is tomorrow. He said extra part-time help for the November 8 General Election started today. Van Lancker said County Attorney Mike Wolf asked for the Board to schedule a possible closed session this week. That meeting was planned for 9 a.m. Wednesday.

He would like to have that railroad merger on next week's agenda.

Supervisor Irwin asked the Supervisors to look at 270th Ave just south of Kunau Implement. He said there has been some concrete dumped there on private property that is starting to encroach on the County road.

Chairman Determann said the US 30 Bridge has been closed and the extra traffic has caused traffic backups around the County Administration Building.

County Sheriff Bill Greenwalt said it was a busy weekend with community events. He also said there will be a couple of promotions in the next week in his office. He would like to have those promotions done in front of the Board during an upcoming Board meeting.

County Conservation Director Phil Visser said there are still plenty of campers on the weekends, but it has slowed since Labor Day. He said the Halloween event is coming up in mid-October and then they will start to winterize the parks. He said hunting seasons are opening and dove season started on September 1.

Proof of publications was presented, accepted and returned for filing.

Present were Supervisor Srp, County Auditor Van Lancker, County Planning and Zoning Director Thomas Barnes, public and media.

Barnes reviewed the proposed amendment.

Cari Arndt, TYCOGA owner, said the request is being made to comply with Iowa ABD to meet their definition of storage.

Brian Kinney, neighbor to the project, asked if the building in question is zoned commercial. Barnes said the whole property is A-1. This would change it all to M-1. Kinney said as a farmer rezoning it for light industrial he wants to know if it is zoned to address dust, noise, chemicals and traffic. He knows other similar operations have impeded agricultural production. He doesn't want to have any concerns about his operation by adjacent property being rezoned. Arndt said they are building a pond and don't plan to store chemicals. She said the storage would only be spirits and wines. She said they also address dust control. Irwin said Kinney is concerned about chemicals and dust from his operation causing issues with Arndt's operation. Arndt said they are not worried about that. Srp said there are already many protects for agricultural business for anyone moving in next to ag-based business.
