DEPARTMENT HEADS, ELECTED OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES

County Auditor Eric Van Lancker said the Board has been given a draft schedule for budget presentations and work sessions and hopes to have that out to the rest of the County by the end of the week. He also reminded them a news release has been sent out seeking interested people to become a Miles Benefited Fire District trustee. He said the County Compensation Board has been scheduled to meet on January 16. He told the Board he will be in Washington, DC. next week for the U.S, Election Assistance Commissioner Local Leadership Council annual meeting where he serves on the executive committee.

Supervisor Srp thanked the County HR department for helping the Board recognize years of service for County employees.

Chairperson Irwin said the legislative kick off meeting is Thursday at 8 a.m. at the Clinton Community School Administration Building.

DISCUSSION WITH POSSIBLE ACTION

Review Supervisor's Board and Commission Assignments: The Board reviewed their various committee assignments. Supervisor George will now participate on the County EMA Commission and Irwin will join the CCASWA Board. Clinton County Area Solid Waste Agency Update Including Discussion of a Rural Recycling Proposal and Potential Reduction of the County's Annual Contribution to the Agency: Paul Varner, Camanche representative and Chairman of the CCASWA Board, said the 28E agreement states the County will levy for the closure of a cell at the landfill. Van Lancker explained the request to review the landfill closure fund was not to exit the 28E agreement, but to see if there was room in the fund for the County to lower its contribution considering new legislation that will make it difficult for the County to fund. He said it also hasn't been reviewed with the County for years and could actually show an increase may be needed. Supervisor George, the current County representative on CCASWA, said the director did report how much the pay in must be, which is around $218,000. She added when a new cell is closed and opened the formula may yield an increase pay in for the County. George said some of the offset of the budget could be the methane capture project that is starting. Srp said the Board did not pursue the legislation on property tax, and the 28E was a good deal at the time, but he said he's sure there is a cancellation clause in the 28E agreement. Srp said action may not take place right away, but they have roughly five years to figure it out. Srp said he's spoken with Representative Determann about an exemption for similar 28E agreements. Irwin said the CCASWA is discussing funding a County-wide recycling program. He said there are currently two drop off sites in DeWitt. Varner said the drop offs have been in place for about a year. George said the cost of one of the drop off locations in a year has been more than $20,000. Varner explained the recycling funding process. George said the suggestion of the County funding the program was proposed by the DeWitt representative. Varner said he would like to see it become self-sustaining. George wondered if this was an effort by DeWitt to cut their budget. Varner said he's not sure about that. George suggested the City of DeWitt address this with the Board. Irwin said he's not interested in moving forward with this until he has more information. He said he will reach out to DeWitt to gather information.

Review of Fire Districts in the County: Irwin said the Supervisors have met with Goose Lake Fire Chief Kevin Cain at different times. Irwin said there have been multiple incidents near the Goose Lake city limits where the Goose Lake department was not dispatched because the fire department can only serve within the city limits without a mutual aid call for assistance. Irwin said after the meetings the Board agrees the decision for coverage comes down to the Deep Creek Township Trustees. Cain said he understands the Board doesn't have much statutory authority in this matter. However, in his opinion this is something to be addressed through the Code of Iowa. He said this section was written in the mid-70s and lacked review of the process. He said his goal is to shed more light on the situation and hopes as a collective community, they can come up to do the best they can in an emergency situation. He said he's just asking for whatever assistance the Board can provide in the matter. Irwin said he spoke with officials in Cedar County and learned there is an agency that did a report for them on emergency response in the County. Irwin said if the Board was to be involved that would be something it could do. He said a third-party could do a study, not just for Deep Creek/Goose Lake, but for the entire County. Srp said he was waiting to see when the next trustee meetings will be scheduled. He agrees his role is limited but believes he can advocate for a review of the fire districts. He said at the end of the day, data shows there could be quicker response time in some situations with a change in the current procedure. Irwin said he could reach out to the firm to ask how much it would cost to conduct a study of County-wide EMS response. George said she believes the current fire district method is outdated because it is not the closest agency that gets the call.

10:15 A.M. Review County Administration Building Remodel

Irwin said he has big concerns about this project coming in at the budgeted amount. County Facilities Director Corey Johnson said the presentation will address some of those concerns. Johnson and Mike McNeil of Origin Designs reviewed the project. They reported the current window curtain wall project is estimated to cost $1.48 million. He said building walls with windows in them will cost about $1.583 million. They said the reason for the difference is there is more detail with the wall and window because there are more trades involved in that process. McNeil said the curtain wall system is demolished and installed by the same contractor. Srp asked if the additional $100,000 plan would be more beneficial. McNeil said the curtain wall would actually be more efficient as it is all one system and the other would require several different seal points. He said the curtain wall will also be more efficient to construct. Johnson said they talked about reducing the height of the window from the bottom and top of the curtain wall and should add R-value to the project. McNeil said the HVAC system upgrade will be more than enough to run efficiently with either option. McNeil guessed the current building is an R-value of 3 and the update will improve the R-value to 21. He said the double pane windows will have gas in between the panes and some of the windows will be tinted. Irwin suggested the bid include deducts to help control the budget of the project. George expressed concerns of costs getting out of control on the project. Srp said this is a project where one thing is connected to another and separating them would cost more later. Srp said the Board must be mindful of that when bidding the project. McNeil believes the project is still within what has been estimated. It was decided to make the ceiling and lighting as a deduct in the bid and that the shades be removed and sliding doors be added to the entrance.
